

TRIAL OF KOEHLER TO BE CONDUCTED IN GREAT SECRECY

Members of Court-Martial Decide Against Publicity.

OFFICERS AT FORT HOLD SAME VIEWS

Reason for Malice Said to Have Started During Manoeuvres Last Summer. When Ranking Officials Objected to Work Imposed on Them.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] New London, Conn., February 28.—The court-martial of Major Benjamin Koehler, at Fort Terry, will not be open to the public, it was decided today, despite the advice of Secretary of War Lindley M. Garrison, that such would ultimately be best for the army. The board of officers comprising the court appealed to Mr. Garrison on Friday to reconsider his order for publicity. He changed his order to a suggestion.

With the exception of one member, the officers on this court-martial are convinced that the public has no right to know what has prompted the trial of Major Koehler.

The attitude of officers in command of Fort Terry is similar to that of members of the court. Passes on the government boats are refused. Attempts to land from private boats are frustrated. Soldiers are denied the privilege to leave the island, and civilians are kept there veritable prisoners, for fear they may talk. Two local photographers, who were known to have photographs of interest at this time, were invited to the fort on Tuesday. One of them, E. K. Taylor, of this city, according to his landlady, is surely kept there against his will. The other is Louis Harder, last seen on Tuesday, as he boarded the boat for Fort Terry.

Theoretical Company Invited.
Several of the officers at this fort, it was stated here today, are arranging for the transportation of members of a theoretical company at Terry at midnight tonight. They are just out over the privacy accorded the island, and plan to celebrate to-morrow. When one officer of commanding rank was informed of this, he answered:

"The officers no doubt were invited to the fort by friends. We allow people there if they are invited. But, no newspaper man, you can rest assured, will receive an invitation."

The reason for malice against Koehler is said to have started last summer during the army manoeuvres near Mystic, Conn. Major Koehler made the officers work and they objected.

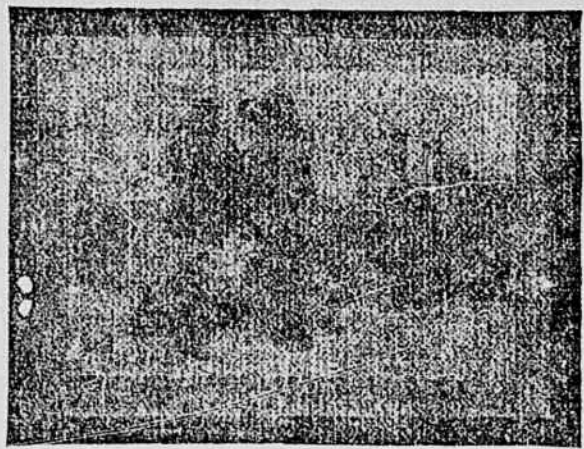

Later, because of a row in the officers' club at Fort Terry, the major closed the place. As commandant, he refused permission for liquor to be received at the island. He also cautioned certain of the officers regarding their moral conduct. Then they set out to "get him."

Example of the Charges.
Koehler was hard to get right. He worked hard at the fort to bring a spirit of decency into the place. Through his efforts a school was established, and a gymnasium erected upon the island. One man, who knows Major Koehler tells this as an example of the charges:

"Major Koehler, who made personal inspections among the company quarters, frequently would discover that a young recruit was melancholy. He would take fatherly interest in the youth, encouraging him by cheering words and advice. His interest in these new soldiers is misinterpreted, purposely by his accusers."

Witnesses for Major Koehler will be heard before the court-martial cases, and among these are most of the women of the post and several of the of-

OLIVER RETURNS TO SIMPLE LIFE
Young Chicagoan, by Posing as Heir to Large Fortune, Enjoys
Strenuous Existence.

Chicago, February 28.—G. Franklin Oliver, a young Chicagoan, returned to the simple life today.

He made public a statement of how, by posing as Joseph D. Oliver, Jr., of South Bend, heir to a large fortune, he had been entertained for several months, had purchased a $16,000 yacht on his personal note, had joined half a dozen exclusive clubs, at which he failed to pay dues, and had subscribed freely to various charities.

The young man's statement denied he was related to the wealthy Oliver family.

While leading what he termed the "high life," Oliver, who is only twenty-four years old, said he had continued his work as an electrical engineer at a salary of $100 a month. Oliver said trouble began for him last August, when he first saw the yacht Manzanita at St. Joseph, Mich. He learned it was owned by Davis L. Frank, of Chicago.

"I went to Mr. Frank and asked him if it wouldn't be better to loan or rent the boat at a nominal price rather than let it rot or disuse," said Oliver. "Oh, you are the Mr. Oliver, of South Bend," Mr. Frank said.

"Yes," I replied. "It was automatic—that 'yes.'"

"He said all I had to do was to give him my note for $16,000."

Things happened rapidly to young "Mr. Oliver" from that time on. He was invited to dinners, joined clubs and, in invitation, was the guest of prominent people. The young man said the upkeep of his yacht and the entertaining he was required to do cost him all of his modest salary and all of his savings.

"I didn't borrow much money," said the young man. "My whole indebtedness is about $300."

Big Building for Southside.
A permit was issued yesterday by Building Inspector Butler to E. B. Brown, owner and contractor, to erect a $100,000 apartment-house at Third and Porter streets, South Richmond. The building will be five stories high, 40x120 feet, constructed with brick and stone. It will be fireproof and equipped with an electric elevator and other modern conveniences. Work will start to-morrow morning.

A Card

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the Common Council from Clay Ward, subject to the Democratic Primary, to be held in this city the 28th of April, 1914, and respectfully solicit the vote and influence of all citizens interested in the welfare of Clay Ward.

GLASS CONTINUES EFFORTS TO HAVE SHEPHERD NAMED

Wants Pittsylvania Man Chosen for Deputy Collector in Southwest.

JONES PREPARES PHILIPPINES BILL

Virginia Congressman and President Understood to Be in Thorough Accord in Regard to Character of Measure Which Will Shortly Be Introduced.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Washington, February 28.—Another and stronger effort is being made by Congressman Carter Glass to have W. B. Shepherd, of Pittsylvania County, appointed as deputy collector to collect the income tax in Southwestern Virginia. Congressman Glass, Jones and Montague today, in a formal and urgent presentation to Secretary McAdoo, recommended his appointment. His appointment was urged by Glass about a month ago, but six men having already been recommended by Senators Martin and Swanson and appointed, only one vacancy existed, and Shepherd's opponent got that.

One of the six recommended by the Senators, however, T. A. Williams, of Falls Church, after being appointed, declined to accept the position, which pays $1,200 a year, because it would necessitate his leaving his business and going to Southwest Virginia, and it is to fill this vacancy that Shepherd is again named.

The Senators have recommended the appointment of a man living at Abingdon, whose name is not divulged. It is quite probable Shepherd will be appointed.

Jones Preparing Philippine Bill.
Congressman William A. Jones is very busy engaged in the House Committee on Insular Affairs, of which he is chairman, in preparing a bill in relation to the Philippine Islands which will meet the declarations contained in the last Democratic national platform by providing for the most liberal form of government for the islands, and looking to their complete independence at the earliest practical moment.

It is understood that President Wilson and Mr. Jones, following several conferences held by them in the White House in the past two weeks, are in thorough accord in regard to the character of the bill which will shortly be introduced in the House.

The bill will receive the hearty support of President Wilson, and it is believed that if such a course is necessary he will make a special address before Congress on the subject.

Confederate After Post-Office.
J. H. Gillespie, the old Confederate soldier of Tip Top, in Tazewell County, must be admitted for the persistence he has shown in his efforts to become postmaster of his township. Several months ago, when the matter of having a fourth-class post-office at his place was brought up, the old warrior wrote to Senator Swanson and Congressman Sloop, asking if the age limit which over sixty-five years would be set aside in the case of an old Confederate soldier. Gillespie is believed to be sixty-six. Both Swanson and Sloop wrote him that if he could pass the examination they would try and have the age limit set aside.

He took the examination held in the State in January and received the second highest mark, according to the report of the Civil Service Commission made today. He made 81 per cent at the examination, and R. W. Dillon made 86.

As Postmaster-General Burleson has ruled that the high man must be made postmaster, unless something material can be shown to why it would be incompatible with the public service, it appears that the former Confederate will not realize his ambition.

Sleep Gives Medals.
Congressman Sloop, of the Ninth District, has announced his intention to present the Turkey Cove Seminary, near Big Stone Gap, with two gold medals, suitably engraved, to be given to the girl making the best recitation, and to the boy making the best declamation.

The Turkey Cove Seminary is where Congressman Sloop received his early education, and he has continued to look kindly feeling toward the old schoolhouse.

IMBODEN HEIRS WIN THEIR CASE
Court Grants Their Demand for Equity in Valuable
Coal Lands.

Bristol, Va., February 28.—The Clinchfield Coal Corporation, composed of New York and other capitalists, and owning one of the largest interests in the Virginia coal fields, to-day lost in a suit filed against it by the heirs of Captain and Mrs. Frank Imboden, of Bristol. The heirs contended for an equity in coal lands in Russell and Dickenson counties, Va., valued at $10,000,000. This property had been sold to the coal corporation by Captain and Mrs. Imboden without regard, it was alleged, to a clause in the deed to Mrs. Imboden, which provided an interest for the heirs. The property was decided to Mrs. Imboden by her husband as a bridal gift immediately following their marriage, and the deed provided for an interest to be inherited by the children, if any should be born to the union.

Judge Frank B. Hutton, of the Circuit Court at Abingdon, to-day sustained all contentions of the plaintiffs, and dismissed all contentions of the defendant corporation, awarding the heirs a one-sixth interest in the properties. The case will be appealed.

The coal corporation was represented by Hornblower, Miller & Potter of New York, Messrs. Hinton, Williams & Anderson, of Richmond, and J. Norment Powell and H. G. Morrison, of Johnson City, Tenn., while Penn, White & Penn, of Abingdon, represented the plaintiffs.

CHUMS OF MISS WILSON

Misses Sallie McAdoo and Mary Tumulty often with President's daughter.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Washington, February 28.—Miss Sallie McAdoo, the second daughter of the Secretary of the Treasury, has the distinction of being the chum of Miss Eleanor Wilson, daughter of the President.

Little Miss Sallie is constantly with Miss Wilson, and the two present a pretty sight as they take strolls along Connecticut Avenue or visit some lively show together.

Miss McAdoo is about fifteen years old, and is in school here. Miss Mary Tumulty, the schoolgirl daughter of the secretary of the Treasury, is another young girl of whom Miss Eleanor Wilson is very fond.

DR. DELLINGER Thanks the People And Almost Those That Caused the Trouble

I use this means of acknowledging my appreciation and extending my thanks to all my friends who have communicated to me their approval for my stand—viz.: Painless Dentistry at a Moderate Cost in opposition to the High priced Dentists of Richmond. Thousands read of the almost one-sided contest in which are arrayed in the last two weeks, and approve of my statement that "I would give the people the best DENTISTRY at moderate prices." I now further say to the other dentists of Richmond that I will publish my low prices as long as I continue to practice dentistry in Richmond. I am often asked this question: "Doctor Dellinger, you who have such an extensive reputation for a system of painless and high-class dentistry, why do you advertise?"

I will tell you all about it in next Sunday's Times-Dispatch.
